Overview of the first quarter ended June 30, 2006

The Japanese economy recovered gradually in the first quarter, backed by increases in consumer spending and capital investment. The economic environment in the U.S. declined with reduction of housing investments and slow down in consumer spending. European economies exhibited steady recovery including increases of production and export in Germany. In Asia, countries such as Thailand and South Korea experienced gradual economic expansion, and the Chinese economy continued to grow.

NSK Groups' manufacturing locations continue to operate at high levels due to the positive global economic environment, healthy capital expenditures, and recovery in demand in the semiconductor and liquid crystal production equipment sectors.

Our consolidated net sales for the first quarter ended June 30, 2006, totaled ¥174,050million, a year-on-year increase of 18.3%. Efforts were made to offset increases in material costs through improved capacity utilization resulting from expansion in sales and production, improvement of productivity, reduction of external procurement costs, and improvement in export profit margins due to the depreciation of the yen. As a result, our operating income increased by 82.8% year on year to ¥14,778 million. Our ordinary income was ¥13,741 million, a year-on-year increase of 80.5%, and the net income after adjusting for income taxes, deferred taxes and minority interests in earnings of consolidated subsidiaries, was ¥8,379 million, a year-on-year increase of 48.4%.

Net sales by product category

Industrial machinery bearings

Domestic demand from the electrical machinery and IT segments were flat compared to the same period last year, while sales to machine tools industry and general industrial machinery remained healthy. In the Americas, demand from aftermarket and general industrial machinery saw moderate increases, though sales to electrical machinery and IT segments decreased. Sales to aftermarket and general industrial machinery in Europe strengthened. Demand in Asia also became robust including increase in sales for electric machine and IT segments, steel and rail cars, and machine tools industry in China and increased sales to aftermarket in South Korea. As a result, overall industrial machinery bearings sales amounted to ¥51,994 million, a year-on-year increase of 11.5%. Operating income was ¥6,510 million, a year-on-year increase of 34.5 % due to improved capacity utilization resulting from volume growth and improvement in export profit margins due to the depreciation of the yen.

Automotive products

Sales of automotive bearings including hub unit bearings used in wheels and needle roller bearings increased. Sales of automotive components also increased with domestic demand for electric power steering (EPS) systems and automatic transmission (AT) components. There was also robust demand for steering columns in the Americas, Thailand and China, and for EPS systems in Europe. As a result, net sales increased 18.9% year on year to ¥97,665 million. Operating income also increased 99.6%, a year on year to 5,931 million due to improved capacity utilization resulting from volume growth and reduction of external procurement costs.

Precision machinery and parts

In addition to continuing strong demand in the machine tools industry, demand for semiconductor and liquid crystal production equipment recovered, and sales of photofabrication equipment for LCD color filter production increased. Overall sales totaled ¥18,146 million, a year-on-year increase of 22.8%. Operating income was ¥2,592 million, a year-on-year increase of 270.4% due to improved capacity utilization resulting from volume growth and reduction in labor cost achieved through productivity improvement.

Other

Sales in other business segment totaled ¥11,546 million, a year-on-year increase of 106.2%, and operating income was ¥751 million, a year-on-year increase of 106.6%. These results included effects of Amatsuji Steel Ball Manufacturing Co., Ltd., which became NSK's wholly owned subsidiary in March 2006.

Net sales by region

Japan

Sales to machine tools industry and general industrial machinery were healthy, while sales to electrical machine and IT sectors were flat compared to the same period last year in industrial machinery bearings segment. In automotive products, needle roller bearings increased, and EPS systems and AT components experienced robust growth. Sales in precision machinery and parts segment to semiconductor and liquid crystal production equipment largely increased. Sales in other business segment also increased due to effects of consolidating Amatsuji Steel Ball Manufacturing Co., Ltd.

As a result, overall sales in Japan totaled ¥125,455 million, a year-on-year increase of 14.5% Operating income was ¥10,925 million, a year-on-year increase of 63.1%. This increase is a result of improved capacity utilization resulting from volume growth, improvement in export profit margins due to the depreciation of the yen, and consolidating Amatsuji Steel Ball Manufacturing Co., Ltd.

The Americas

Sales of industrial machinery bearings slightly increased in general industrial machinery and aftermarket sectors, while sales to electrical machinery and IT sectors declined. Sales of hub unit bearings used in wheels and steering columns were healthy in automotive products segment, and sales for semiconductor production equipment manufacturers lead to an increase in sales in precision machinery and parts segment. Net sales totaled ¥25,647 million, an increase of 22.9% compared to the same period last year with increase resulting from exchange rate fluctuations. Operating income, which was affected by improved capacity utilization resulting from volume growth and increase in sales price, was ¥976 million, an increase of 182.4% compared to the same period last year.

Europe

Sales of industrial machinery bearings saw an increase in aftermarket and general industrial machinery sectors. Sales of hub unit bearings used in wheels and EPS systems produced in Poland pushed up the sales in automotive products segment. In precision machinery and parts segment, sales to machine tools industry and semiconductor production equipment manufacturers increased. As a result, sales in Europe totaled ¥33,000 million, a year-on-year increase of 20.4%. Operating income was ¥2,133 million, an increase of 121.5% compared to the same period last year due to improved capacity utilization resulting from volume growth and increase in sales price.

Asia and Oceania

In industrial machinery bearings segment, sales to electrical machinery in China and to aftermarket in South Korea increased. Sales of automotive products were healthy in each region including ASEAN, China and South Korea. In South Korea and Taiwan, sales of precision machinery and parts strengthened. Overall, sales totaled ¥22,476 million, a year-on-year increase of 36.2%. Our operating income was ¥1,901 million, a year-on-year increase of 99.3% due to improved capacity utilization resulting from volume growth.

Financial Position

Cash flow provided by operating activities in the first quarter of the year ending March 31, 2007 was  $\pm$ 14,850 million with  $\pm$ 13,741 million provided by the net income before adjusting for income taxes, deferred taxes and minority interests in earnings of consolidated subsidiaries, and  $\pm$ 8,162 million provided by depreciation and amortization.

Cash flow used in investing activities totaled ¥9,022 million with ¥9,226 million used in additions to property, plant and equipment.

Cash flow used in financing activities was ¥5,426 million with ¥10,000 million used in payments for redemption of corporate bonds, ¥7,999 million provided by increase in bank loans, and ¥3,228 million to pay dividends.

In aggregate, the net increase in cash and cash equivalents was ¥281 million, resulting in cash and cash equivalents at end of the first quarter to total ¥52,148 million.

Forecast for the year ending March 31, 2007

The forecasts have been made based on following foreign exchange rate. For the second quarter of the year ending March 31, 2007 U.S.$1=¥110, 1Euro=¥136 For the second half of the year ending March 31, 2007 U.S.$1=¥108, 1Euro=¥136

Continuing rising material prices and condition of the U.S. economy add uncertainty to market. However, strong capital expenditure spending is forecasted in industrial machinery bearings and precision machinery and parts segments, and demand in semiconductor and liquid crystal production equipment is forecasted to continue to recover. In automotive products segment, sales to some automotive manufacturers tend to decline, but we expect overall demands to remain high.

Under these conditions, NSK revised its forecast for the first half of the year ending March 31, 2007. Net sales are forecasted to be ¥345,000 million for the first half of the year ending March 31, 2007. Operating income, ordinary income and net income are forecasted at ¥28,000 million, ¥25,000 million and ¥15,000 million respectively. For the full year ending March 31, 2007, we forecast net sales of ¥690,000 million, operating income of ¥55,500 million, ordinary income of ¥50,000 million and net income of ¥30,000 million.
